ICM technology partner Neumann&Müller takes first place at the Conga Awards

- Munich-based high-end event technology company voted best in the field from among the final ten nominees

Spirits are very high among the team at Neumann&Müller (N&M): Carsten Hoffmann, who received the coveted Conga Award on 25 October 2010 in Munich on behalf of N&M sees the award as an important seal of approval: "Neumann&Müller was among the nominees a few years ago, but didn't land a prize. So I am all the more pleased this time that we have leapt into first place. I see this as both recognition of our service and achievements, and as an incentive to go on to further improve our performance in the future."

Ten service companies from all over Germany had made it to the final selection in the 'Events Technology' category of the Conga Awards 2010, and this Munich-based specialist in events technology was voted the winner by approximately 25,000 event planners and sector representatives from around the country.
