Low emission zone Munich: Emissions sticker required to drive in downtown Munich

As of October 1, 2008, the city of Munich is a low emission zone. So-called Emissions Stickers (red, yellow or green) are required to drive in the low emission zone. This also applies to anyone visiting the city. Beginning in October 2008, all streets located inside the "Mittlerer Ring" are considered to be in the low emission zone, for which a sticker is required. The "Mittlerer Ring" itself is not in the low emission zone.

Due to this change, Messe München International and DEKRA have set up a service point for exhibitors and visitors. Emissions stickers may be purchased at DEKRA in the Entrance West for EUR 5.00.
