oils+fats is the only trade fair in the world that focuses on the technology and trade of oils and fats. The range of exhibits includes plants and machinery for the production and further processing of oils and fats, raw and auxiliary materials and solutions for quality assurance and logistics. As Europe's central platform for concrete solutions and future-oriented ideas, oils+fats showcases the latest trends live and informs visitors about the latest technological developments. That makes oils+fats the most important industry gathering for decision-makers and technology specialists in the oils and fats industry, experts from the research sector and agricultural associations in Europe. At least 70 exhibitors from approximately 20 countries and some 1,300 visitors from about 60 countries are expected to take part in the next oils+fats, which is being held at the M,O,C, in Munich from 5 to 7 October 2011.
